

Radio Society of Great Britain

City of Bristol RSGB Group - G6YB

Next Meeting Monday January 31st 2011 Annual General Meeting

At the Bristol Lawn Tennis & Squash Club, Redland Green, Redland, Bristol BS6 7HF

Happy Christmas to our readers from the Committee !

Monday Dec 27th No meeting. But a “Virtual Meeting” – a chat ON THE RADIO! Although not 100% successful last year we thought it worth a second go! So get those dipoles up and let's see if we can have a QSO at 1900hrs Monday 27th Dec on 28600 KHz USB.

Monday Jan 31st AGM – details next month... but DO please consider whether you would be prepared to stand on the committee; new input would be really appreciated.

Home brew kits and the latest developments

We could do with some suggestions for talks later in 2011 – any thoughts?

News :

MARS (Midland Amateur Radio Club) are operating a special events station using GB80TH from 1st Jan 2011 to 31st Dec 2011 qrz.com gx3mar

The RSGB 80m Club Championships start on Jan 3rd The Bristol Group has done exceptionally well in recent years, but active participation is essential from members to maintain our position. For a complete diary of RSGB Contest events check here

Morse classes : Steve G0FUW has been sending slow Morse to a group in Bath over the past few months, and with a little help from yours truly and G4YTN we have had 6 pass certificates presented at 5 and 12wpm. If anyone is interested in applying for a rather smart Certificate drop me or Alan G3XSV an email.

A couple of months ago I enquired how many people would prefer just a link to the web site for meeting information. I had nearly 50 replies – with only 5 asking specifically for just a link. So I am keeping things as they are – but I aim to keep the newsletter size down to help those still on dial-up broadband.
