The BRISTOL AEROSPACE CENTRE is a new heritage museum and learning centre being planned for a 9 acre site in Filton.

It will tell the story of the region's world-class aerospace industry - past, present and future. The project is being run by the Bristol Aero Collection Trust.

The RSGB Bristol group has been approached asking if anyone is interested in helping to establish, alongside the aero / space development displays, demonstrations of how electronic and communications equipment changed and developed over a similar period.

This is a huge project with multi million pound lottery funding .

If interested either contact me or look on the website.
