Bristol RSGB Contest Group do it again!

Full results now published here : http://www.iotacontest.com/

The Bristol Group WON the DXpedition section of IOTA on Jersey by a convincing margin:

As you can see from the results - even though the "local" competition (MJ0ICD) were less than 200 contacts behind us there was a big difference in the final score!

Call IOTA Ref	QSOs	Mults	Final Score

How I Got Started in Ham Radio - Tom Boucher G3OLB

I was interested in communications from a very early age, with telephones rigged up around the house and between friends' houses. I had a Morse trainer set with a built-in key and buzzer and a pair of ex-RAF headphones, which were in use until recently. In about 1955 when I was 12, my Dad bought me a t.r.f. receiver kit using a couple of sub-miniature acorn radar valves, a 955 regenerative detector and a 954 af amp. I still have those two valves in my junk box. It used two solid dielectric variable capacitors for tuning and reaction and had a sectional rod aerial, four U2 (D) cells for the valve heaters and a 22.5 volt layer battery for h.t. We put it together using a hefty soldering iron heated on a gas ring. Nothing as clever as an electric soldering iron!

One Sunday morning, tuning down at the very bottom of the medium wave band I could hear some people talking to each other, my first experience of hearing a radio amateur. At that time I lived in Churchill Road, Brislington, only about 200 yards from G6HN and it was probably Joe ("6HN Bristol yer") that I heard.

I went to Cotham Grammar School and, strictly against all the school rules and not being the least bit interested in playground activities, I used to go wandering off exploring the neighbourhood during lunch hours. One day I ventured into Picton Street just off the Cheltenham Road and found the most amazing shop full of ex-WD radio stuff. In those days it was only a few years after the end of WWII and there was lots of ex-government radio equipment on the surplus market. An annual trip to the radio shops in Lisle Street, Soho became a must later on.

In the window of Roy Pitt's shop was a notice inviting anyone interested in radio to join the Bristol and District Amateur Radio Society. Along I went to St Mary Redcliffe church hall, just off Redcliffe Hill and joined the club. Members I can recall were G3JMY, G3IZM, G3IGR, G3IUO, G3IUV, G3GYQ, G3GZA and of course our own Roy G3FYX. The club held the call G3GIS and I can well remember going along to John G3IZM's cellar shack in Chandos Road, Redland where the club operated the 'MCC' Short Wave Mag club contest. There was another one at George G3IUO's place in Withywood.

Ted Halliday G3JMY helped me build a DF receiver and frame aerial and organised a club DF hunt at Stockwood Lane where he parked his Vauxhall Wyvern (?) with 160 metre mobile rig. Another member, John Howlett was a close neighbour of mine in Bloomfield Road and helped me a lot. Does anyone know what became of him? The club later moved to Mullers Orphanage, Ashley Down and subsequently folded.

To be continued next month—thanks for the memories Tom!

New Chair for TEC

The RSGB has appointed Philip Willis M0PHI as the new Chair of the RSGB Training and Education Committee to succeed Steve Hartley G0FUW.

Philip was already a member of the Committee and Steve will be handing over Committee tasks in the coming days and weeks, so you can expect a little parallel running for a short time.

Philip is Professor of Computing, and Head of the Department of Computer Science at Bath University .

Philip is a member of the RSGB Bristol Group and has attended several meetings recently.

We wish him well in his new position.

The "winner" gets £2 worth of raffle tickets at the next meeting.

Some of the more printable comments from last month's picture...

IS that the sound of a Russian tank I can hear? G3ZVW

"It's working! It's working! I can feel all my grey roots are vanishing!" 2E1GFC

Julia sat enthralled as she listened to the last chapter of 'The Book at Bedtime': "With one bound, he was by her side. Susan's heart leapt as he ripped the thin silk from her body and......" (With apologies to The Goons and "Bal-ham, gateway to the South.") GOXAY

"Ooh, I get a real tingle when I touch the chassis!" Mike B. SWL

This month's winner however:

Mavis - You don't need to go to these lengths to watch the 'Dave' channel... Peter Heaven
